

22 - 23 September 2008

Salle de conférences

Colloque

Cities and Ethnic (non-) Violence

MONDAY 22 SEPTEMBER 9:30 - 17:30

9:30-12:30

INTRODUCTION : Christophe Jaffrelot, directeur du CERI-Sciences Po

Does music sooth the savage beast of communal tensions? The case of post-apartheid Cape Town

Denis-Constant Martin, CEAN-IEP de Bordeaux

Overcoming ethnic segregation? The management of urban interfaces in Northern Ireland

Elise Féron, IEP de Lille

DISCUSSANT : Laetitia Bucaille, Université Bordeaux IV, chercheur associé à Sciences Po-CERI

14:30-17:30

East Palo Alto (California): urban violence, ethnic tensions and the dream of a peacable kingdom

Denis Lacorne, CERI-Sciences Po

The political consequences of urban riots, with special references to Los Angeles

Raphael Sonenshein, Fulbright Tocqueville Distinguished Chair in American Studies, Institut Français de Géopolitique-Université Paris 8

Slow burn: ethnic tension and urban development in Oakland, California

Frederick Douzet, Institut Francais de Geopolitique, Universite Paris 8, Membre de l'Institut Universitaire de France

DISCUSSANT : Daniel Sabbagh, Sciences Po-CERI

TUESDAY 23 SEPTEMBER 10:00 - 18:00

10:00-13:00

“Commander, I have fulfilled my vow...”: Skanderberg’s statue and the multiple scales of ethnic conflict and ethnic solidarity in today’s Skopje (Macedonia)

Nadège Ragaru, CNRS/Sciences Po-CERI

“We can be brothers?”. From anti-communist solidarity to ethnic tensions and ethnic violence: comparison of two Romanian towns (Targu Mures and Cluj) in the early 1990s

Antonela Capelle-Pagacean, Sciences Po-CERI

Everyday voicing and silencing of ethnicity in a multiethnic “laboratory”. The case of Brcko District, Bosnia and Herzegovina

Cecile Jouhanneau, doctorante rattachée au CERI

DISCUSSANT : Xavier Bougarel, CNRS-EHESS

15:00-18:00

Institutionalised violence, city conflicts and elite politics. Ahmedabad 1985-86

Sujata Patel, Pune University

States of violence: the routinization of sectarianism in Gilgit (Pakistan)

Nosheen Ali, Cornell University

The battle for Karachi: the moral economy of urban strife in Sindh, Pakistan

Laurent Gayer, CSH-New Delhi

DISCUSSANT : Jean-Luc Racine, CNRS/EHESS-Centre d'études de l'Inde et de l'Asie du Sud

Entrée libre dans la limite
des places disponibles.
Pas de réservations.

Responsable scientifique :
jaffrelot@
ceri-sciences-po.org
Organisation :
ballereau@
ceri-sciences-po.org
Contact : michel@
ceri-sciences-po.org